MARGERY MAXWELL
GRAND OPERA STAR

Was Principal With Galli-Curci in "Dinorah."

SINGS AT CHAUTAUQUA HERE

As Member of Chicago Grand Opera Company Scored Successes in Chicago, New York and Boston.

An evening with a grand opera artist has twice before proven a great attraction on the Redpath Chautauqua circuit, and now after one season without a prima donna, this year's program is to have a grand opera star in Miss Margery Maxwell, the gifted young soprano who appeared this year as a principal with Galli-Curci in the Chicago Grand Opera company in Chicago, and who accompanied that organization on its tour to New York and Boston.

Miss Maxwell will appear on the third night of the Chautauqua here, accompanied by two assisting artists, a violinist and a pianist.

Miss Maxwell made her debut with the Chicago Opera company this fall as Una Capraia, in "Dinorah." This first appearance was a decided success and especially noteworthy as she was one of the six principals with Amelita Galli-Curci and Giacomo Rimini in the cast. The following day in all Chicago papers the critics commended her work most highly.

During the Chicago opera season Miss Maxwell sang in "Dinorah" several times and also in "Manon," "The Jewels of the Madonna," "Lakme," "Francesca di Rimini" and "Louise," each time delighting the audience with the unusual beauty and range of her lyric soprano voice.

Mme. Galli-Curci is most enthusiastic in her praise of "the (American) Mees" Maxwell's superb voice.

At the close of the Chicago season, no one was surprised to find Miss Maxwell among those chosen for the Eastern tour of the Chicago Grand Opera company. The recognition given her in the East was no less than she received in her home city. The New York Morning Telegraph used a large picture of her with an interesting feature story the morning after her first appearance and the Evening Mail, in a Saturday edition, published her photograph in a group with Geraldine Farrar, Ricardo Stracclari and Gordon Key.

Miss Maxwell is a pleasing, whole-hearted American girl. All her spare minutes she spends in knitting and at present she says one of her great ambitions is to go to France and sing for the wounded soldiers.

"A SOLDIER OF THE SKY"

Captain George Frederick Campbell of the Royal Flying Corps Has Brought Down Eighteen Hun Airplanes —Lost His Entire Family in the War.

Father, mother, sister and three brothers the victims of the Huns; sixty battles in the air; eighteen hostile airplanes brought down; a silver plate in his hip where it was shattered by a German bayonet; a bullet through his lung while flying 10,000 feet above Beaumont Hamel in November, 1917, ending his fighting career, tells briefly the tragic and heroic three years that Captain George Frederick Campbell, of the Royal Flying Corps, has lived.
Captain Campbell is to speak on the sixth night of the Chautauqua.

Campbell's father was the first of his family to fall, being killed in the memorable battle of Mons. At the battle of Loos his brothers, Bruce and Jamie Campbell, both lieutenants, fell with their faces to the foe, and in a trench raid not long after, his remaining brother, Captain Blaikie Campbell, was killed.

An invalid mother and a loving sister remained to mourn in the old ancestral home in the Mull of Kintyre back in Bonnie Scotland. Then his sister, bent on an errand of mercy, embarked on the ill-fated Arabic, and was counted among the lost when the vessel was sunk by a German torpedo. This final crushing blow killed the mother. Campbell, then a lieutenant of the Highlanders, was left alone.

Campbell was already a soldier of the king when the war broke out in 1914. A lieutenant stationed in India, he was ordered at once to the European front. In a few weeks he was fighting to stem the Hun advance on Paris.

At the battle of Neuve Chapelle in 1915, Captain Campbell was severely wounded, his hip bone being shattered by a bayonet thrust through the abdomen. Several months in a hospital followed. On his recovery he was declared unfit for further duty with his regiment. He then sought and found further service in the Royal Flying Corps. For two years, until again severely wounded, he fought the Hun in the air.

Captain Campbell, in his lecture, "A Soldier of the Sky," will tell of his flying fights on the western front, most of which he has written in his book of the same title that was recently published.

"Never refuse a fight," said Captain Campbell recently, "is the motto of the Royal Flying Corps. We learned that lesson early in the war, as the Hun is far inferior to our flying men in morale."

When he left active service Captain Campbell was fourth "ace" in the Royal Flying Corps. He worked in the single-seated scout type of machine, in which the pilot operates both the gun and machine.

Captain Campbell also took part in many bombing raids, the longest being an attack on the railway station and three supply trains at Seclin on the Belgian frontier. The station and tracks were demolished and troop and supply movements held up several days.

British Knight Will Speak at Redpath Chautauqua Here

SIR JOHN FOSTER FRASER, F. R. G. S.

Sir John Foster Fraser, F. R. G. S., who will speak on "The Checkerboard of Europe" on the fourth night of the Chautauqua, is England's most famous newspaper special correspondent. As a recognition of services rendered his country during the great war the honor of knighthood was conferred upon him by King George in Buckingham palace in June, 1917.

Sir John is said to have done more varied traveling than any man alive and has described his wanderings in a dozen books. He has long been famous in Great Britain as a speaker with a personality. "The London Press" says, "He is as brilliant on the platform as he is with his pen."

NOTICE!

I wish to notify the people of this vicinity that I am going to shut down my little elevator the fifteenth of this month. I will not open before the middle of September. I find that my business has grown a little faster than my elevator is equipped for. I am going to install some more bin room and elevators and a pair of Hopper scales. I also find it necessary to build more room for hay and straw. We are having a hay room built west of the black ware house so that I can be prepared another year to furnish the people here with hay at the right price if the season turns out like last year.
I had to ship in hay this year and no room to put it. Now the way our present hay crop looks through this section, looks as though hay would be a good price for the next year's crop, as the meadows through this section are very light.

I think I could safely advise holding your old hay that is good and sweet as it is bound to be worth more money than we can get at present.

I wish to thank the people of this vicinity for this year's business. I hope it has been such that I can have a share of your next year's trade.

Yours for business, I remain
